Show and Tell:

Terry showed off his beautiful Great Planes Patriot. It is liveried in the traditional Patriot garb of white with red and blue trim. Terry powers his model with a Jett .56 and he modified the aircraft with flaps and electric retracts. He had hoped to get the aircraft to fly 150+ but thus far he estimates it will only do about 125. He hopes to get a few more mph as the engine breaks in.

Mike showed off a very nice 1930's German glider that he built from model magazine plans.

The plane has a 72" wingspan and is covered in yellow with blue trim. Mike couldn't remember the name but it is very nostalgic looking. Thus far he has only hand tossed the glider in his back yard and he reports that it glides very well. He is planning to modify the glider so it can be towed aloft.
